It was night.
The animals were asleep.

“Wake up!” said Mom Skunk to Dad Skunk.
“It is time to look for food.”

The mom and dad rabbits woke up, too.
Little Sam Skunk and Puff Bunny did, too.

“I want to look for food,” Sam said.

“Me, too!” said his friend, Puff.

Sam and Puff looked for nuts.
They looked for flowers.
They did not find them!
Grandma Skunk saw the friends
looking for food. She got an idea.

“I will hide some food,” she said.
“Sam and Puff will see it.
They will be happy!”

The next night, Grandma hid some nuts.
She hid a flower, too.

Then Grandma took Sam and Puff outside.
“Let’s look for food!” she said.

Sam saw something in the trunk of a tree.

“Yum, yum. I found nuts!” he said.
Puff saw a flower.

“Yum, yum. I found a flower!” she said.

The friends were happy.
They had found food!

“Let’s bring the food home,” said Grandma.
“We will share it.”

The animal moms and dads came home.
Sam and Puff shared the food they found.

And they all said, “Yum, yum!”
